Questions

b) The final design differs from the design created by the team because of different variables and the way the output is set up. The output statements in my design are hard coded within the individual if-statements rather than one output outside the conditional statement.